

Police Shoot Textile Strikers; One Dead

Two Others Among Six Wounded Likely to Die—Strikers Were Orderly, Say Witnesses, But Police Version is That They Were Unmanageable—Mayor Gave Order to Fire.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Pawtucket, R. I., Feb. 21.—One man was killed here today when police, on the order of Mayor Kenyon of Pawtucket, fired into a gathering of textile strikers outside the Jockeys cotton mill.

Six others were wounded, two so seriously that they were sent to hospitals.

The strikers, according to witnesses, were in an orderly gathering when Mayor Kenyon arrived on the scene. He read the riot act and ordered the strikers to disperse and return to their homes. Nobody moved. The mayor repeated his order, but it was ignored. He then turned to the officer in charge of the Pawtucket police and gave the order to fire.

The police version of the disturbance is that the strikers and strike sympathizers were seeking to enter the mill of the Jockeys Spinning Company, and that the crowd became unmanageable when the police and Mayor Robert A. Kenyon attempted to arrest four of the disturbers. A motor moving van had been commandeered for the purpose of removing the four when the crowd rushed the police.

Feeling among the strikers has plainly reached a dangerous height. They contradicted the police explanation of the affair and charge that the trouble started when a Pawtucket police sergeant struck a young woman striker, Mary Almeida, 19, with his club, knocking her down.

Another policeman, they charge, hit the young woman with a revolver butt across the breast as she lay on the ground.

It was at this point, according to the strikers and their sympathizers, that the mayor rode up in his automobile. They claim the mayor lost his head and after taking a revolver from his pocket, fired it into the air. They also insist that it was the mayor who gave the order to the police to discharge their riot guns when the crowd refused to disperse following reading of the riot act.

Mayor Kenyon conferred with Lieutenant Ballou, who was in charge of a detail of 25 policemen, and told him to fire if necessary.

Mayor Kenyon is said to have cautioned the police to be calm. The casualties follow:

Juan D'Assunipue, of Valley Falls, dead.

Tony Regosa, shot through the chest and back, condition critical.

Joseph Diaz, shot through the abdomen, condition critical.

Theodore Silvera, shot in leg and side, condition not dangerous.

Joseph Mogudral, shot in neck, condition not dangerous.

Tony Lewis, shot in arm and shoulder, condition not serious.

Frank R. Hamman, scalp lacerated, condition not serious.

500 NOW RECEIVING FREE NURSING TRAINING

Doctors O'Leary, Downer and Day Tell in Understandable Language What to do in Many Diseases and Emergencies—Next Meeting Wednesday.

Tuesday night there were fully five hundred in attendance at the free nursing class at the high school, and all gave the closest attention to the two talks. Kingston is taking the lead in this admirable and progressive movement which is keeping step with the advanced ideas of the medical profession today that says "prevent sickness if possible." Our physicians are devoting considerable time and effort to the talks they give so that the classes are really setting very special training.

The two physicians who spoke were Dr. John G. O'Leary and Dr. M. B. Downer of Woodstock.

Dr. O'Leary was the first to speak, his subject being "Home Care of Chronic Invalids," by which it will be seen that the course has broadened out into something much more comprehensive than just a few instructions relative to a possible flu epidemic.

Dr. O'Leary stated that the progress and success of the practice of medicine today was largely dependent upon the quality of the nursing support that it receives. We have gone past the day when an expert nurse is counted the privilege of the very few. We count a trained nurse, in case of sickness in the home, almost a necessity. Yet there are so many cases where a professionally trained nurse is not needed, especially for chronic invalids.

The doctor then briefly told of Florence Nightingale and how her efforts in the Crimea war set in motion the idea of training nurses as scientifically as doctors, as we are doing today.

The speaker then philosophized all would agree with the thought who counted the greatest material blessing in life to be "A sound mind and a sound body," and when the body is no longer sound we know it never will be sound again, and we face chronic invalidism. We have a pretty big burden to bear. And the chronic invalid has been found to be due to the nurse in charge.

Cheerfulness on the part of the nurse will beget cheerfulness on the part of the patient. Next in value to cheerfulness, Dr. O'Leary counted tact, and he warned the class never to forget that if their patient does become fretful and peevish one must never forget that they are sick. Diverting the thought often does away with the irritation. Emphasis was laid upon the necessity of so managing as to keep visitors who irritate a patient, out of the sick room.

It is necessary for the nurse in charge of a chronic case to have good judgment regarding the times when it is necessary to call in the physician. And the physician by making an occasional call brings mental support and encouragement to the patient, even though there can be little done in the way of physical relief. Order in the sick room was a prime requisite; also the prompt attention to the patient's wants, especially in the matter of giving medicine. The need of ventilation without exposure, of cleanliness, especially of the mouth; of the care of the hair, particularly women's hair; were all considered. And the comfort of the patient as regards to a good bed, etc., was counted important.

Perhaps one of the very most important things to watch out for in the care of the chronic patient was the matter of bed sores, a bed sore being a disgrace to any nurse. On this topic Dr. O'Leary dwelt at some length. Then he told of the physical danger signs that warned that the physician should be called, going into careful detail. Light feeding of a bed patient was prescribed, and in any case plenty of water to drink, given often by the nurse, whether or not the patient asks for it.

Then some special forms of chronic invalidism were talked over, and Dr. O'Leary emphasized the reasonableness of taking a child afflicted with infantile paralysis to some good regular doctor, in whom one has faith doing as that doctor might direct, and keep on following his advice rather than dragging the poor child all over to different specialists, etc., who can do no more for the child once the disease has done its work.

Dr. O'Leary closed his able talk with a warning to those doing the nursing as to the importance of never hurrying up when it is possible to relieve the strain on the body by taking the weight off of the legs and feet by sitting, thus reducing the probability of varicose veins and other ills. He was emphatic about this and also urged the wearing of right kind of shoes, with a straight line on the inside, and the flare on the outside of the shoe. Since the proper way to walk is over the toe, he was not concerned about the height or kind of heel, for the right way of walking keeps one off more than on the heel. The absorbed attention of all present to this and the following address showed the appreciation of the class.

Dr. Downer spoke on "Respiratory Diseases." First he explained what the respiratory tract was, how it functioned, and how functioning, going into just enough detail to make the subject entirely understood.

Then with equal care Dr. Downer described the two forms of pneumonia, lobar pneumonia which we find attacking the young adults and adults of middle age, and bronchial pneumonia affecting children and old people. He told in simple language what caused either form of pneumonia, how the disease progressed. It was made plain that worry, reducing one's vitality overwork, becoming chilled or wet, also reducing the vitality leave one the more easily subject to pneumonia, and then the warning symptoms were given, a chill or chilliness, followed after a few hours by a fever, pains in the chest, a cough and the expectoration of blood-streaked or really bloody mucus, and a badly disturbed temperature, pulse and respiration; a sound of solidity when the lung is percussed, etc. Where it is a case of bronchial pneumonia in a child or elderly person, it is more often preceded by a bad cold, which continuing after five days shows a rising temperature, quickened pulse, etc.

As soon as the case is definitely diagnosed as pneumonia, the patient should be placed in a comfortable bed—single if possible—in a sunny room that can be kept warm but have a great deal of ventilation. There must be no dust, so a carpet is bad, and if rugs are used they should be taken out of the room to be cleaned and the floor wiped up with a dampened cloth or floor mop to avoid dust. The patient must be kept warm, but never burned with hot water bag or bottle, both of which are invaluable, if properly used. In case of delirium, use an ice bag. Avoid all heavy blankets or heavy overwork, and putting a great burden upon the heart. The patient should have bits of clean old cloths into which to expectorate, and they should be dropped into a paper bag and burned. Under no circumstances should the patient be allowed to sit up or get out of bed because of the strain on the already overtaxed heart, the exertion might even prove fatal. And only light foods should be given a pneumonia patient. Plenty of water should also be given.

Then Dr. Downer told the class how to keep a simple but almost invaluable chart for the doctor's inspection. Among the "don'ts" was an emphatic one regarding company, which should be excluded from a sick room. And after just a few words about flu, Dr. Downer left the comforting thought with the class that most cases of pneumonia get well.

While the arrangements were being made for the demonstration in bed making, Dr. O'Leary gave this valuable piece of advice in case of any one being seized with an attack of acute indigestion. Make the patient vomit as quickly as possible, giving a teaspoonful of baking soda in a pint of warm water to drink, or if that does not do a little mustard water. This is as a safety measure while the doctor is coming, for acute indigestion is very serious and needs instant and expert attention.

Then the class had the privilege of seeing a bed made up, with a supposedly sick patient in the bed, Dr. Day explaining every move made by the nurse.

On Wednesday evening of this week Dr. Larkin will give a short talk on "What to do and what not to do in case of emergency," and Dr. Eastman will give another short talk on "After Care of Contagious Diseases." Both are important subjects. Then the class will be instructed how to themselves make a bed with or without a patient in the bed.

MAJOR CHANDLER IS REAPPOINTED

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, Feb. 21.—Reappointment of Major George F. Chandler of Kingston as superintendent of the state police was sent to the senate Monday by Governor Miller for confirmation.

Major Chandler was the first appointee under the law establishing the New York state constabulary. He organized the department and brought it up to its present efficient standards. He announced a year ago that he was about to retire, but at the earnest solicitation of the governor he changed his mind.

No opposition is expected to his confirmation.

LEWIS AND RAIL UNIONISTS MEET

To Talk Over Feasibility of Forming "Triple Alliance" Here To Act Jointly In All Wage Disputes.
By Telegram to The Freeman.
Chicago, Feb. 21.—Announcement that he had taken a step in the direction of averting a nation-wide strike of coal miners, was made here today by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, as he entered into conference with the heads of railroad brotherhoods to present his "defensive alliance" proposal of resisting contemplated national wage reductions.

Lewis declared that he had issued a call to operators in west Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio and Indiana for a joint conference to be held in the Hollenden Hotel, Cleveland, on March 2.

"This conference with the operators is essential to industrial peace," said Mr. Lewis. "Unless the conference is held and an agreement reached it will protect the interests of all parties concerned, including the public, there will be a strike."

Chicago, Feb. 21.—John L. Lewis, miners' leader, is urging upon the railroad brotherhoods today, an alliance similar to the triple alliance existing in the key industries of England.

Lewis seeks joint action in wage questions by the miners and railroad men. In Great Britain, the national union of railway men, the transport workers and the miners acted jointly and were a powerful force until the alliance was virtually smashed in a disagreement regarding continuance of the coal miners' strike last year.

Dr. Seeley, the new police commissioner, is a man who has always been active in the civic and religious life of the city and his appointment will meet with universal approval. This is the first public office he has held.

TWO ARRESTS IN BANK ROBBERY

Frank Flannigan and Driver Marco Held But Money Taken From Bank Auto Is Still Missing.
By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Feb. 21.—Two men were arrested early today charged with participation in the sensational bank messenger robbery yesterday in which $22,000 was taken from William A. Russell of the Greenwich Bank staff, in Seventh avenue.

Frank Flannigan, recently released from Sing Sing, was charged with acting as concert in the robbery, after witnesses had identified his roguish gallery photograph as a picture of the man who took the money bag from Russell.

Michael Marro, driver of the bank car, who was held as a witness when police learned he had a criminal record, was arrested on a similar charge as result of complaint by Russell.

Two other men who were in the touring car in which a getaway was made, have not been apprehended nor have the police any trace of the money.

OSER GETTING READY TO RETIRE

From His Zurich Business To Wed Youthful Mathilde And Live In Alps Villa—No Move To Become An American.
By Telegram to The Freeman.
Zurich, Feb. 21.—Max Oser, the riding master who is betrothed to Miss Mathilde McCormick, granddaughter of John D. Rockefeller, is not worrying over the report that the world's richest man wishes his prospective grand son-in-law to become an American citizen.

In fact, Max is going ahead with his preparations for a quiet home life in his native Alps. For several days he has been busy winding up his livery stable and riding school business, and negotiating for the purchase of a secluded villa where he may retire from the world with his beautiful young bride.

Max disappeared a few days ago, leaving word that he was going to Bern or Geneva where he intended to either sell or lease his stable and riding academy in Aussersihl, a Zurich labor suburb.

Announcement of his engagement has caused little change in the personal habits of the riding master. He still retains his bachelor quarters adjoining his stable, where he has resided for some time. Tongues in the heads of all Zurich are wagging stories of their "American prince."

Among the tales being told are of Miss Mathilde's being beloved because of her interest in children of the city. She is beloved because she speaks their language, and cemented her youthful friendships by distributing many goodies during her stay.

Max Oser, who is a member of the cavalry reserve, has been called Major Oser since conducting his riding academy. He is of medium height, strong and athletic. A slight, mustache, adds to his cavalierly appearance. It is said here that Mathilde's mother, took her to America because she objected to the seriousness of the romance that was blossoming between the "major" and Miss Mathilde.

Max Oser is expected to return to Zurich Saturday or Sunday. If he succeeds in winding up his livery stable affairs by that time.

DE VALERA WINS IN ARD FHEIS

In Vote Which Is Not True Test Secure Open Balloting—Collins Announces He's Beaten on Acceptability of Treaty.
By Telegram to The Freeman.
Dublin, Feb. 21.—The De Valera party in the Ard Fheis won the first victory in the Sinn Fein general assembly today when that body voted in favor of open balloting, which had been advocated by the former president.

On the face of it, the figures on this decision indicated a majority for the anti-treaty party of several hundred. It is possible, however, that many unpledged delegates voted for open balloting as a matter of principle, so that this move is not entirely conclusive, though it is a marked technical victory.

De Valera proposed a resolution that the Sinn Fein could not support the treaty under the articles of the Republican constitution and forecasting that "Ireland soon will be free."

COLONIALS WILL SHORTLY MEET

City Judge Harry E. Schirick, who will again head the Colonials, the semi-professional baseball champions of the Hudson river valleys, stated today that he would shortly call a meeting of the members of the team to talk over baseball matters and the securing of a playing field for Sunday baseball. So far no field has been obtained for this season.

All of the old members of the team will be present at the meeting as well as some new players. As usual the team this season will be made up exclusively of local ball players. It is expected that the Colonials will again be able to avail themselves of the services of "Bud" Culston, the king pin twirler in the Hudson river valley. "Bud" last season made an enviable record, and expects to repeat this year.

As soon as weather conditions permit there will be a call issued for tryouts for the various positions on the team. Last season's players will hold their berths with no demonstration that they are as fast, if not faster than the new material that is expected to make a try for the team.

GAS CO. MEN MEET IN INTEREST OF COOPERATION

Intention Is to Have Every Complaint Sifted to Bottom.
A meeting of the employees of the Kingston Gas and Electric Company in the interest of better service at the Y. M. C. A. Monday evening was attended by about 90 persons. General discussion was had of ways to secure complete cooperation between the company and its customers in the remedying of defects in service and explaining misunderstandings.

The earnest desire of the company was expressed by the speakers as being to have every complaint attended to, great or small, and to this end every employee was urged to refer to the proper authority any complaints that came to his attention. For instance, if the meter reader cannot explain some grievance, real or fancied, of the householder, it is the aim to have him take it to the department under whose jurisdiction it comes, where it will be given the attention that has often been impossible because it never got to the proper person.

E. A. Acker, district superintendent; C. A. Lasher, commercial agent, and Richard Marchant, accounting department, were the speakers.

CALLS ON MAYOR CRANE
To Ask Council to Repeal Daylight Saving.
Editor, The Freeman.
According to your article on daylight saving in last Friday's Freeman, the people of Kingston are to be subjected to the same confusion and annoyance this year, which was the result of having daylight saving thrust upon them last year by the common council.

There is only one way to end this confusion and that is by having this ordinance repealed. Without entering into any discussion as to the merits or demerits of the case, I believe that this is the sentiment of the majority of the people of Kingston and the thousands who are through out the state between April and October when they are they are respectively re-queuing their time to the benefit of the people's ordinary life, which will be a confusion at once.

She could eat anything
—without indigestion or sleeplessness

For a time she had been troubled with gas after her evening meal. The distress was most painful after eating potatoes or other starchy foods, of which she was very fond.

Then she started taking two cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast every night between her evening meal and bedtime. She poured about a half cup of boiling hot water over the yeast cakes, stirred them thoroughly, added a little cold water and drank.

She found she could eat anything and sleep splendidly afterward.

Thousands of men and women are finding that Fleischmann's Yeast corrects stomach and intestinal troubles. It promotes the flow of bile and pancreatic juice. Appetite is always kept normal and you are protected against indigestion.

Add 2 or 3 cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast to your daily diet. You will find that your whole digestive system is greatly benefited. Be sure it's Fleischmann's Yeast—the familiar tin-foil package with the yellow label. Place a standing order with your grocer for Fleischmann's Yeast.

THE OFFICE CAT

By J. J. Jones

Women may smoke, but the old-fashioned way of scratching a match still remains a strictly masculine privilege.

That's what you might call the seat of consolation for menfolk.

What has become of the Oulja Board that used to tell us everything that was going to happen?

There is no disagreement in the family about one thing, and that is the desirability of owning an automobile.

Rastus Washington called at a drug store the other day.

"Boss," he said, "I want one of dem plasters you done stick on yoah back."

"I understand," said the clerk, "you mean one of our porous plasters."

"No, sah," he replied positively, "I don't want none of yoah porous plasters—I want the best one you got."

Atta Boy.

A barber who hailed from Purdue would continually urge a shampoo. He talked so of dandruff.

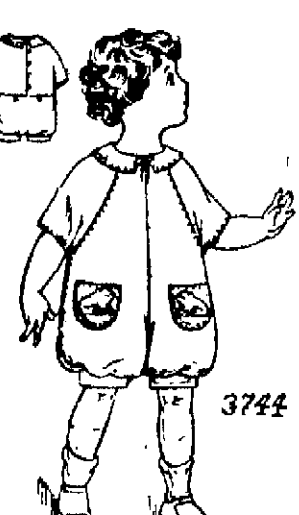

That the townfolk got dandruff and made this poor barber skiddoo.

The man who lays down on the job picks a mighty poor couch.

The kaiser wants permission to move to Finland. The finish, as you were about to say.

What has become of the winner of the old fashioned beauty contest, before the days of the movies?

3/4 of a pound of dirt in 5 1/4 minutes

From a supposedly clean Chenille rug, 9 x 12 in size, in the home of C. C. Campbell, 746 Gordon Terrace, Chicago, fourteen ounces of dirt were removed in 5 1/4 minutes with the Royal Electric Cleaner. Let the Royal demonstrator make the same test in your home.

That Chenille rug—and why she bought a Royal

When a Royal demonstrator called at a certain home recently, he was shown a Chenille rug, 9 x 12 in size, and was told that it had been cleaned regularly every week.

The demonstrator went over it with his Royal for 5 1/4 minutes; emptied the bag, weighed the contents—and found that 14 ounces of dirt had just come out of that "clean" Chenille rug.

With the Royal the demonstrator then showed that the upholstered furniture, hangings, mattresses and the like, were no "cleaner" than the Chenille rug.

Then he explained the convenient payment plan on which Royals are sold by us—and she bought then and there.

She hadn't known before how much dirt ordinary cleaning methods fail to get—or how light and handy and thorough the Royal is.

Have a Royal demonstrator call, put him to work on one of your rugs—and see what the Royal does and how easily it does it.

MATERNITY BILL TO BE PUSHED

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Albany, Feb. 21.—With Governor Miller's support, the bill offered by Senator Davenport, which contemplates the creation of a division of maternity, infancy and child hygiene in the state health department, will be pushed rapidly through the legislature.

The measure repeals the federal cooperation with the state, as provided for under the Sheppard-Towner act passed by congress, and appropriates $100,000 to the state can carry on the work by itself. Under the Davenport bill, the proposed new bureau would cooperate with local agencies throughout the state in caring for the health and welfare of mothers and children.

Jackson Groggy In Fourteenth But Stuck It Out.
By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York Feb. 21.—Charles White, the Chicago lightweight, disposed of Willie Jackson's championship aspirations by getting the judge's decision over the local entry in a fifteen-round bout at Madison square Garden last night. White, thus qualified for a championship meeting with Benny Leonard on March 17.

The bout went the limit, despite the fact that White scored two knockdowns in the thirteenth round, the bell saving Jackson on the latter occasion. He came out for the fourteenth in a groggy condition but White failed to follow up his advantage and Jackson, recuperating gradually, was strong at the final bell.

WOULD PREVENT CHILD DRIVERS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Albany, Feb. 21.—No person under 18 will be allowed to operate an automobile in New York state after this spring, according to present indications of the legislature to curb reckless driving, which is held to be largely responsible for the alarming increase in fatal automobile accidents.

The administration and the legislative leaders of both parties are backing the Lowman bill, which would license all automobile operators, and for which the New York state automobile association has been fighting for seven years. The Lowman bill already has passed the senate, and while there will be some opposition to it in the assembly, it is not expected to be sufficient to defeat it.

Governor Miller has indicated that he will sign the bill, which carries out one of the recommendations of the Lowman special legislative automobile investigating committee.

The measure requires the examination of every automobile operator as to his fitness and imposes an initial license fee of $1. There is no annual renewal fee, but the license can be revoked for cause at any time by any judge of a court of record. It provides that no person under 18 can operate a car. An operator's license has been in effect in New York city for the past year. Licensing of operators will now be extended to the entire state and the law will be uniform.

"No power on the part of England could divide myself and Arthur Griffith, founder of the Sinn Fein. Although we are now separated, we would come together on essential matters."

THE CIVET-CATS

"It's all very fine to be a Malayan Civet-Cat but to be a common Civet-Cat is better," said the Civet-Cat.

"One would expect such a speech from you wouldn't one?" asked the Malayan Civet-Cat.

"One might, I do not know," said the Civet-Cat.

"Of course," he added, "you are like me and your family is like my family and our families are like each other and all the rest of it but still I am glad I am not you."

"I am glad you aren't too," said the Malayan Civet-Cat, "for if you were, you would always be sorry you were and that would be most mixing and upsetting."

"Of course you can't help but admit that I have large spots and that they are actually larger than yours."

"I have a stronger looking body and I am stronger too."

"You aren't as fine as I am," said the Civet-Cat. "I am not too strong for that would make me a little toughened and not so refined as I now am."

"I have large spots and my whole body is beautifully marked. I have a fine ring-streaked tail too."

"I belong to the wildcat family and at the same time I look a little like a skunk."

"All creatures wouldn't consider that an honor but I do, for I consider the skunk a very handsome creature."

"And I have an odor which is something like the skunk's. Most creatures wouldn't like that but I do, oh yes, I do. If I didn't I would change my perfume but I do like it. All Civet-Cats do."

"Yes," said Mrs. Civet-Cat, "we all do. If we hadn't cared for the family perfume we wouldn't have clung to

"She Speaks the Truth."

It or allowed it to cling to us all these years."

"But we've appreciated it if others have not. But what do we care if they have the bad taste not to like it? It only shows what they are, or at least what they are not. They are not Civet-Cats. That much is certain."

"I am a Spotted Lynx," said the animal in the next cage in the zoo. "I am beautiful and my spots make me look so dressed up."

"Ah, but you haven't any real family perfume such as we have," Mrs. Civet-Cat remarked.

"She speaks the truth," said Mr. Civet-Cat.

"What is more you sound very fine with your game of Spotted Lynx," said Mrs. Civet-Cat, "but you are really nothing more than a wildcat."

"I belong to the family," said the Spotted Lynx, "and I admit it. And you also are of the cat family."

"Yes, but so different from you," Mrs. Civet-Cat answered.

"There are many different creatures in the zoo," she continued, "who have fine sounding names, and who live here in this house, such as the Black Paradoxure and the African Ichneumon, a very black animal from the Malay peninsula called the Bear-Cat, or, as he prefers to be called, the Binturong."

"There is the Surlate or Slender-Tailed Meerkat of South Africa, too."

"But they aren't as interesting as we are. No, not they. We have simple names. Folks know we belong to the great cat family and civet cats are becoming more and more known."

"Handsomeness is wearing us as coats and furs and muffs and as decorations on their hats."

"They say that when our fur becomes damp or when they wear us out in the wet weather we're especially generous with our family perfume but they're not in the least appreciative. They are very lacking in thankfulness."

"Still, they do us the honor to wear us as a family and treat us as they would fox or seal or something noble and fine and beautiful like that."

"And if we give them of our perfume we give it without extra charge so even if they don't appreciate it they ought to be glad we don't charge them for it."

"I suppose," said Mr. Civet-Cat, "you talk about the honor of being worn as a fur for you know that you are safe here in the zoo."

"And Mrs. Civet-Cat made a meowing sound to show that she agreed."

Went the Tug.

"Look, daddy," said a little six-year-old. "I pulled this cornstalk right up all by myself."

"Way, but you are strong!" said his father.

"I guess I am, daddy. The whole world had hold of the other end of it."

FOOD FOR THE FAMILY

During the winter when more fat and heartier foods are used, we must consider the serving of foods that keep the body in good condition.

Dried Fruits as Food. — Figs, prunes, apricots, raisins and peaches are cured by slow evaporation and only long soaking restores the juiciness, then a slow cooking will give a dish of delectable fruit; often a sugar need be added. Figs because their fine seeds are best never served alone in any quantity, but put their foods, such as fruits and cereals.

All dried fruits should be carefully looked over and washed, then put to soak in water and the same water used for the slow cooking, thus none of the valuable fruit acids and salts are lost.

Graham Pudding With Figs.—Take one-fourth of a cupful of softened fat, add one-half cupful of molasses, one half cupful of sour milk, one egg well beaten, then one and one-half cupfuls of graham flour well mixed with three-fourths of a teaspoonful of soda, one-half teaspoonful of salt; mix all the ingredients and turn into a buttered mold after adding one cupful of finely cut figs. Steam three hours and serve with an egg sauce, using the yolks of two eggs well beaten, sugar, milk and flavoring to taste.

Celery With Cheese.—Take the outer stalks of celery, cut in half-inch pieces and cook until tender, saving the liquor to add to the white sauce. Prepare a white sauce using two tablespoonfuls each of butter and flour, one cupful of milk and a half cupful of the celery liquor; cook until thick. Put a layer of the white sauce then a layer of celery and a generous layer of cheese in a well buttered baking dish, repeat and bake in the oven until well heated through. Serve from the dish. If well seasoned with salt, paprika and pepper if liked, this makes a most appetizing and wholesome dish.

Physicians' Smelling Salts.

Collections of old English prints under a century or more ago will invariably show the physician with a cane. It is an elaborate cane, and he seems to be rubbing his nose with the head of it. The reason for this professional gesture was in the cane itself. It was trick cane, built to carry a flask of liquor in the top. There was nothing modern about its capacity, since explanations of the prints state that aromatic vinegar or some other concoction believed to have value in warding off illness was contained in the gold cane top. So that it amounted to nothing more than a gentleman's bottle of "smelling salts."

Hissing for Dogs.

Indians are very fond of dogs, and around every wigwam, tepee hut or wherever they may reside, there are always from 6 to 20 wolfish dogs. An Indian dog loves an Indian and hates a white man with equal intensity. When a white man drives through an Indian village and sees a dog by the wayside his natural impulse is to whistle in a friendly way. But the instant he whistles the dog turns tail and is out of sight quicker than if he had been kicked. An Indian never whistles to his dog when he wants the animal to come to him; he places his tongue against his teeth and hisses.

Built Over Ancient Antioch.

Part of the site of ancient Antioch is occupied by the modern city known as Antakieh, having a population of about 28,000, which is only one-tenth of the population of ancient Antioch at the time of St. Paul. The second and smaller Antioch was situated to the northwest in a small province known as Pisidia. It was near Colosse and Lystra and several other well-known places in which St. Paul preached. Today only a few ruins of Antioch of Pisidia remain to mark the site. It was also called Caesarea, although the greater Caesarea stood on the shore of the Mediterranean, not far from Jerusalem, and was the political capital of Palestine.

On the Banks of the Kanawha

KANAWHA means "coal." It may have meant "black bear" or "slippery cell" to the Indians who named it—but to any of us who ever heard of this little river it means "coal," for it winds through the heart of the rich West Virginia coal regions.

It was on the banks of the Kanawha that the Government built the "chemical city" of Nitro during the war.

When mankind first manufactured war chemicals—TNT, picric acid, etc.

The Southern Dyestuffs Company was organized for the production of dyestuffs—the standardized intermediates from which are manufactured dyes for fabrics, paint and wall paper, as well as colorfastness, etc. etc.

The raw material for both industries is the same—coal tar. To the Southern Dyestuffs Company began its career by building a refinery at Nitro, that cost the government to build $1,000,000.

Just as the Southern Dyestuffs Company of West Virginia, "The Chemical City," which Nitro is located, undoubtedly presents the opportunity for the development of a chemical industry in this region—or for that matter, any other location in the world.

An opportunity beginning for a new American industry!

355 BOYS ENTER ATHLETIC MEET

To Be Held at Y. M. C. A. Wednesday—Prize to Big Silver Cup Now in Possession of School 6.

The entries for the fourth annual public school athletic meet which is to be held in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium Wednesday, February 22, are now closed and 355 boys are registered to participate in the meet. The meet will be exclusively for boys of the 5th, 6th and 8th grades and the competition will be for the large and beautiful silver loving cup which is now in the possession of School No. 6. Individual prizes will be given to the boys taking first, second and third places in each event and will be in the form of ribbons. For the teams taking first, second and third places in the relay potato race and the tug of war ribbons will be also awarded. The boy scoring the total highest number of points will be given a medal and a special prize of ribbons will be given the three boys having the highest number of total points.

The cup was won in 1910 by School 4; in 1920 by School 5 and in 1921 by School 6. If the cup is won by any school three times, not necessarily consecutively, that school becomes the permanent possessor of the trophy.

The entries for the schools stand:

School No. 2	48
School No. 3	58
School No. 4	44
School No. 5	63
School No. 6	53
School No. 7	21
School No. 8	65

The scoring for the schools will be reckoned on the percentage basis, so that School 3 which has the highest number of entries will stand no great advantage in numbers over School 7 which has the lowest number of entries. No boy can score over 100 points on any one event out. Distance, height or time over 100 points will count for individual prizes. Each boy must enter each event exclusive of the relay potato race and the tug of war, for which teams the contestants will be selected by the principals of the schools and the teams will consist of 6 and 10 men respectively.

The events will be the potato race, the standing broad jump, chin-ups, the bar, the running high jump, the relay potato race and the tug of war. Entrance to the gymnasium floor will be through the Boys' Department entrance at 1 p. m. and no boy will be admitted to the gymnasium floor after 1:15 p. m. Spaces will be provided on the gymnasium floor for each school and when not contesting the boys are required to stay in that section. The principals are requested to be present early and check the names of the boys from their respective schools.

The officials for the meet have been mostly secured and when all is told the final number will be about twenty. These officials have been mostly chosen from various parts of the city and in such a manner that no partisanship will be shown. The committees that have worked the coming meet into all readiness are: The directing committee consisting of A. W. Buley, physical director of the public schools; R. H. Hogg, physical director of the local "Y"; and C. R. Hall, boys' work secretary at the "Y." The school athletic committee comprises R. H. Van Valkenburg, J. H. Garrison and Frank L. Meagher.

KINGSTON BOY AN INVENTOR

Mark A. Guilgon Invents Snow-Fighting Machine Which Compresses Snow Into Solid Cakes Easily Handled.

Some blizzardy morning, if you live in a big city, says the March issue of Popular Science Monthly, you may look out of your window to see a monster motor-driven snow shovel creeping down the street, pushing up snow at one end and turning it out in the form of tightly packed snowballs at the other.

Or perhaps you may see a great whirling rotary plow, scooping up deep drifts and shooting out the loose snow through a funnel to the side of the street.

Machines such as these, proposed at a recent meeting of the country's foremost mechanical engineers, are designed to meet the problem of snow removal in large cities—not an out-and-out engineering problem. In particular, the experience of New York city with several heavy snowfalls has proved that it is better to depend upon mechanical equipment than upon a hastily recruited force of ill-clad and inefficient men.

The aim of the snow-removal engineer is to sweep the streets clean before the snow can freeze into ice, and to pack it densely so that the trucks may carry full weight as well as capacity volume. The machine proposed by Mark A. Guilgon of New York city is primarily a snow compressor, with which snow may be packed into a quarter or an eighth of its original volume. A scraper rests on the street, and as the machine plunges into the drifts the snow is forced onto a conveyor belt that carries it up an incline and drops it into a packer. Here the snow drops onto a screw conveyor that discharges it in solid cakes which can be quickly handled and loaded into trucks.

For deeper snow, D. L. Ellis of Seattle, Wash., favored a gas electric rotary snow plow that will pick up the snow and shoot it either in a long pile at the side of the street, or drop it directly into a truck. The motor of this machine is a large wheel with cutting teeth and scoop edges. The loose snow is thrown off through a pipe which can be aimed to the side or downward. The machine runs on an endless tread, and derives its power from two 142-horsepower gasoline motors direct coupled to a 70-kilowatt generating set.

Mark A. Guilgon, who is referred to in the above article, is a son of the late Augustus Guilgon of this city, and has many friends here. He is a member of the Society of American Engineers and is in the employ of the New York Edison Company of New York city as a construction engineer.

Be Careful What You Wash

Your Child's Hair With

If you want to keep your child's hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Multifid coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply put two or three teaspoonfuls of Multifid in a cup of glass with a little warm water, then moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanse the scalp and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Multifid coconut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few sunsets is enough to last everyone in the family for months. Be sure your drug-gist gives you Multifid.—Advertisement.
